Tomás has developed his career within the firm and has been a member of the real estate department since 2012.

He specializes in real estate transactions, project development, and construction and permitting issues.

Tomás graduated in law from the Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile and teaches real estate law at the law school of the same university, and holds an LLM from Northwestern Pritzker University in Chicago.

In 2015 participated in the Academy of American and International Law of the Southwestern Institute for International and Comparative Law in Texas, and in 2012 completed a diploma in real estate law and business at Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile.

"We take pride in this appointment, as Tomás has demonstrated great commitment to both GO and our clients throughout his years at Guerrero Olivos. His promotion aligns with Guerrero Olivos' strategy of continuing to grow and strengthen areas relevant to the economic and social development of the country," commented the firm's principal partner, Juan Enrique Allard.

With this promotion, Guerrero Olivos now has 21 partners and 69 associates.
